The Office of the CIO Website's New Look!

May 30th, 2025 (Lincoln, NE) – The Office of the CIO website has a new design!

The agency has collaborated with a marketing and design firm to create a new website look and feel. This design, codenamed the Sower Design System, brings a whole host of new features as part of the governor's directive to offer State-provided hosting for agency websites.

The first website to receive the update is our own! The Office of the CIO website now features a whole new look. The revamp implements elements from the Nebraska Brand Book and sports a clean, easy-to-read layout that is sure to impress.

Powered by Adobe Experience Manager, this new look features many enhancements the old site lacked. It is adaptable, automatically adjusting to fit the resolution of PC, tablet, and mobile devices. Navigation has been simplified, and an integrated Search tool allows users to effortlessly find what they're looking for.

A special shoutout goes to the OCIO Content Management Systems Team under Bryan Falk, who have worked diligently to help create this design. We wish them the best of luck in implementing it across State websites!
